DIRIGIBLE NORGE HEARD BROADCASTING HER POSITION OVER ALASKA

By Associated Press.

Nome, Alaska, May 13. (11:30 p. m.)—At this time which is 5:30 Thursday morning by Eastern Standard time, in the States, the dirigible had not reached Nome.

By Associated Press.

Cordova, Alaska, May 13.—At 1:50 this morning American Easern time the airship Norge was heard broadcasting the following: "Airship Norge bound Nome, Alaska, please stop any interference."

The foregoing message was caught by a radio station of the United States Savy on St. Paul Island, in Bering Sea. St. Paul Island is 500 miles south of Nome, where the Norge was expected at 11 o'clock this morning American Eastern Standard time, after a trip from Kings Bay, Spitzbergen Islands, Norway, over the North Pole, and past Point Arrow, Alaska.

The Norge used 900 meters wave length, and a tube transmitter. St. Paul Island, which is 900 miles west of her, tried vainly to establish communication with the Norge at that time.

At 2:08 this morning American Eastern Standard time, St. Paul heard the Norge ask: "Does any one hear us?"

Two minutes later the Norge was calling Nome, after having tried to raise a station in Siberia. Then the Norge called a station whose name was not deciphered, and said: "Go ahead."

Nome Ready For Explorers.

By Associated Press.

Nome, Alaska, May 13.—Nome stretched and yawned this morning after sleepless hours of preparation for the arrival here today of Captain Roald Amundsen in the dirigible Norge. The big airship was reported to be nearing Nome, the terminus of the first voyage across the arctic from Europe to Ameica.

Early this morning Alaskan radio ations reported that they had heard signals from the Norge, the first to be picked up since shortly after it cross over the north pole. The strength of the signals indicated that Amundsen had touched the bleak northern Alaska coast and was proceedings southwest towards Nome.

Amundsen, an intrepid Norwegian explorer, who first heeded the call of unknown domain when he was still a youth left King's Bay, Spitzbergen at 10 p. m. Monday, Nome time. The flight was to take between 50 and 60 hours.

Oslo Says Due Nome Tonight.

By Associated Press.

Oslo, Norway, May 13.—Latest reports received here say the Polar dirigible Norge will arrive at Nome, Alaska, at nine o'clock tonight. The airship was sighted off Point Barrow early this morning. All on board are well.

It is not clear from the above dispatch whether Oslo time or Nome time is meant. The difference between the two points is twelve hours.

The difference in the Standard times of Oslo, the Norweigian capital, and New York is six hours.

Thus the 9 p. m. mentioned in the Oolo dispatch would be 3 p. m. Eastern Standard time, and about noon at Nome, Alaska.

CERTIFICATES FOR REDUCED RAILROAD RATES RECEIVED

Mrs. W. A. Hammett, adjutant of Camp Winkler, stated today that she had the certificates which would entitle the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Sons of Confederates to reduced rates to the Confederate reunion in Birmingham. She also has the certificates for the veterans. These must be secured and signed by Mrs. Hammett before they will be honored by the railroad for the reduced rates.

TWO SPANISH FLIERS HAVE COMPLETED SPAIN TO MANILA FLIGHT OF 11,000 MILES

By Associated Press.

Manila, May 13.—Two of the six Spanish aviators, who started from Madrid thirty-eight days ago to fly to the Philippines, ended their 11,000 miles journey shortly before noon today when they brought the only remaining plane to rest at Camp Nichols, American army flying field, three miles from Manila.

Captains Loriga-Taboada and Gonzales Gallarza were the pair who attained the goal despite the mishaps which have dogged the adventure, claiming the machine flown by Captain Esteves in a Palestine desert and that of Captain Loriga off the inhospitable coast of South China. Captain Loriga, taking the place of the mechanic who had flown with Captain Gallarza as far as Macao, thus was in at the finish. Manila was en fete to greet the Spaniards, whose departure from Aparri, Northern Luzon, at 7:55 o'clock this morning was heralded by the screaming of whistles. A large throng made the three mile journey to Camp Nichols to share in the welcome, some in automobiles, many in the picturesque caromatas, or native carriages and many others afoot. The Spaniards' big breguet sesuqui plane appeared escortted by two squadrons of American planes and landed on the field kept clear by two companies of troops.

The airmen were carried in triumph back to Manila in a long procession of automobiles, which stopped briefly before the monuments to Legaspi, who conquered the Islands for Spain, and Rizal, the national hero of the Filipinos. At the Catholic cathedral the medieval veiled city of Manila an impressive te deum was observed, with the most Rev. William Piani, apostolic delegate to the Philippines, officiating.

The first man to greet Captain Gallarza upon his arrival was on old comrade of the Morocco campaign who rushed up and embraced the aviator. A general stampede occurred, men, women and children attempting to kiss the fliers.

Whether the aviators will attempt to fly back to Spain or return by steamer depends upon orders from Madrid. A proposal has been made to present the plane to the Philippine government.

WHISKEY STOCK TO BE DESTROYED IN INDIANAPOLIS TODAY

By Associated Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 11.—Destruction of the W. P. Squibb whiskey stock with a bootleg valuation of $300,000 was begun here today by Linus P. Meredith, United States Marshal. There are 14,400 quarts of the contrabrand liquor.

The whiskey was seized at Lawrenceburg, Ind., in 1921 and the following year brought to Indianapolis and stored in the Federal building. There was originally 1,453 cases in the stock which prohibition officers say is the last pre-war whiskey in Indiana.

SUPREMACY AMERICA STRESSED IN TALK JULIUS S. BARNES

AMERICAN ORGANIZED LABOR GIVING FAIR WORK FOR FAIR PAY

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 11.—American's economic supremacy was attributed by Julius S. Barnes of New York, in an address today before the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce, to its possession and development of natural resources, habits of industry and stable, sound government. He emphasized particularly the advantageous position of American labor.

"American organized labor," he said, "this last year declared the measure of rightful compensation for the workers depended upon the production results of his labor. Thus was abandoned the old theories of a "living wage" and the issue squarely joined with the European concept that the worker's daily wages must be paid to accomplish a given result.

"Recently America has been visited by delegations from the British Associated Industries and by the London Mail's delegations of Trades Union leaders from the engineering trades. Their reports express amazement at the American workers' standard of possession and living.

"The conclusions of both British employers and British workers state that both the progress of the worker and the prosperity of the employers rest on increasing production.

"America assumes no self-complacement attitude when it speaks, with sober earnestness, of the lessons of its own experience and its own development, in this time of economic crisis in Great Britain. Vast and powerful trades unions, nclined to enforce the outgrown day's wage concept of restricted production, retard social progress in Great Britain alone. The National organizations of employers are slow to see the dividend and wage earning possibilities of highly modern equipment."

PREPARATION MEATS FRIDAY

The Wednesday afternoon session of the Fourth Annual Cooking School being offered free of all charge to the ladies of Corsicana and Navarro county by the Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Morning Light was a huge success. Mrs. Chitwood was all smiles. She made cake, and from the questions asked and the notes taken, the fathers and sons of Corsicana will feed in luxury soon.

The first ladies to attend the session entered the school room over an hour before the moment that Mrs. Chitwood was scheduled to step before the audience. Everything was in readiness. The kitchen on the platform, with its electrical range and refrigerators, beamed forth a snowy-white welcome. Over a hundred extra seats had been provided for those who were expected to be present, and by 2:30 o'clock all of the available seats had been filled.

Last Session Friday.

The last session of the school will be held on Friday afternoon. At that time, Mrs. Chitwood will talk on breads and meats, and show her class the latest and most tempting ways of preparing these essentials to life. "No mother who is raising a family," said Mrs. Chitwood in speaking of this last session of her school, "should fail to realize the importance of serving meats. A growing child needs them, and to serve only vegetables to them causes them to grow up without some of the body building elements of food."

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Chitwood showed the many ladies who crowded into her class room, how to cook and prepare vegetables. "I will have you eating cabbage for breakfast," she told her class, as she prepared Thursday's work. And when she had completed the preparation of the cabbage, the squash, the asparagus, the corn, and the tomatoes, it was truly hard to distinguish which of her dishes would best satisfy the hungry man.

C. H. Deabler wasted no time in presenting Mrs. Chitwood to her audience on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Chitwood was ready to show the ladies her new ways of preparing cake. The ladies already had their notebooks open and pencils ready, and they, too, were anxious for the instruction to get under way. Interest and attention was at its height at this session of the school. Many questions were asked, and Mrs. Chitwood promptly answered them all, and was eager for more.

Explains Cake Making.

"There are no new principles of cake making," said Mrs. Chitwood as she stepped forward on the platform. "I have been in quite a number of the leading Universities of this country where the art of cooking is taught. All of them will tell you that the same old fundamentals of making cake are the same as they always were. And when I went to Miss Bradley's famous school in Boston I learned that the principles of making a cake have really not changed. Now remember, she added, there are many different ways of dressing a cake up for serving. We may make it a layer cake. We may make it thick or thin, large or small. We may cover it with various kinds of frostings and fillings. There are many, many ways of doing that.

"Of all cakes," she announced, "there are only two kinds. It may be a sponge cake or it may be a shortening cake. Whichever way we make it depends upon the substance contained in the cake."

Mrs. Chitwood then led her audience through the process of making a layer angel food cake. As she combined the elements and prepared the dough for cooking, she explained each step carefully, telling the why and reason for each step. Frequently she was interrupted by some lady wanting to know of certain points in connection with the process. All of these questions Mrs. Chitwood cheerfully answered, and asked for more inquiries.

Efficiency of Electricity.

Again the effciency of the electric method of refrigeration was evident. This was used by Mrs. Chitwood to cool the cake and harden the frosting which she placed on the cake a necessity ordinarily requiring hours of patient parking on the kitchen table, which every school boy who cannot even make a cake well knows. But with the aid of the cold, dry air within the interior of the electric ice box, Mrs. Chitwood was enabled to have the cake ready for serving within just a few minutes.

The cake which Mrs. Chitwood built before her class was called a layer angel food. Mrs. Chitwood did not bake the cake in layers, but prepared it as if she never expected to cut it other than for serving. When you bake various layers of a cake, she said, it takes more pans, more heat, and more trouble. But, she added, always remember your rights. The hole within the center of the cake did not give her one particle of worry. "Just wait until I slice it," added Mrs. Chitwood, and you shall see the hole disappear. You would never know that it ever had a hole in it."

The prediction was true. When sliced the cake presented an appearance beyond the descriptive power of a mere man. In the words of Mrs. Chitwood, "It was beautiful and simply delicious, class; I can assure you of that." The cake was of a white texture, covered with white frosting, and completed with a pink filling.

Frosting for Cake.

As Mrs. Chitwood prepared her frosting she called the attention of the ladies to her manipulation. "It takes constant beating and stirring to keep the whites of these eggs fluffy and with body," she said. "When you get the proper method of beating one can stir these mixtures all day long and never tire."

"Woman is entitled to the best things," exclaimed Mrs. Chitwood. "You go into the office of any man, and he has many, many time and labor saving devices. But the poor woman does not have such things in her kitchen. Man takes all of the money, and spends it on himself. No wonder some other woman gets to enjoy his fortune."

"Always Economy" is the watchword of the Cooking School. "Never waste," says Mrs. Chitwood. "I still find women who will throw away orange peels. They make the finest trimmings for a cake. I know that many of you women are the wives of millionaires, but still don't waste. Save your money, and give it to some of us who have to work so hard."

"This is mighty fine flavoring," announced Mrs. Chitwood as she poured some flavoring extract into her cake. "It is strong enough to flavor a cake, and I also have heard of its being strong enough for other uses."

The Wednesday afternoon session was drawing to a close as the cakes were ready to be removed from the oven. But no one would leave until they had the privilege and opportunity of seeing the cakes come from the oven.

Prizes Awarded.

Mr. Deabler commenced the issuing of prizes. Mrs. W. E. Jordan of Frost was awarded a sack of White Crest flour for having come the greatest distance of all the ladies present, just to take advantage of the free opportunity offered the ladies of Navarro county to learn Mrs. Chitwood's art. Mrs. Jordan came all the way from Frost and stated that she and a number of other ladies of Frost would have been in attendance sooner, except for the bad roads. They are going to continue their presence at each of the remaining sessions of the school. Mrs. Allen Pugh, 202 North Fifteenth street, and Mrs. Maude Stroud, 211 West Fourth avenue, each held the lucky numbers for three packages of Mother Sue's Potato Chips. Mrs. M. P. Fallon, 711 West Second avenue, carried home a huge sack of White Crest flour. Mrs. O. A. Owen, 820 North Fourteenth street, was the recipient of a six months' subscription to the Corsicana Daily Sun. Mrs. Andrew Fulton, 615 West First avenue, won an entire case of Coca Cola. Mrs. E. P. Zincke won a can of Calumet Baking Powder. Miss Gladys Baker, 911 South Seventeenth street, won a Gebhardt's Dinner Package. Mrs. D. B. Smith, 1512 West Seventh avenue, won two packages of Knox Gelatine. Mrs. N. C. Muns, 1432 West First avenue, was the recipient of a large can of Crisco. Miss Gladys Needham of Marquez, Texas, was for a second time the holder of a lucky number. Several days ago Miss Needham won a six months' subscription to the Corsicana Daily Sun. On Wednesday she won a large can of Royall's King of the Cup Coffee.

Only One More Session.

With this issue of the Daily Sun there remains only one more session of this school which is being offered free of all charge. The Daily Sun again repeats its invitation to all of the ladies of Corsicana and vcinity to be present at the concluding session and witness Mrs. Chitwood as she prepares meats and breads.

Notes on the Cooking School.

"Economy is the watchword," says Mrs. Chitwood. "Never waste anything."

More chairs had to be added to the seating capacity at the school on Wednesday. This was made necessary by the large number of ladies desiring to attend the daily sessions.

Mrs. W. E. Jordan of Frost came the farthest distance of any of the ladies in attendance at the cooking school on Wednesday. Bad roads prevented her attendance on other days.

C. H. Deabler continues to smile and work. He is happiest when testing the products which Mrs. Chitwood is taking from the oven of her electric range.

The Corsicana Advertising Club had a gala luncheon at noon on Thursday. Mrs. Chitwood is an honorary member of the local Advertisers.

Misses Sybil Carter and Katherine York, students in the Corsicana high school, have acting as ushers each afternoon. They are always busy.

Superintendent H. D. Fillers was the recipient of the delicious angel food cake which Mrs. Chitwood made before her class Wednesday. It pays to smile; at least Mr. Fillers thinks so.

Economy in buying does not mean to buy the cheapest products says Mrs. Chitwood.

Every woman has two rights, according to Mrs. Chitwood. These are to change her mind when she gets ready and to do as she pleases

The young ladies studying Domestic Science at the high school could not wait until after the cooking school to try out Mrs. Chitwood's receipe on Nigger in De Cane Patch Pie. They all made pies Wednesday.

Mrs. Chitwood announced to her class on Wednesday that the newspaper men would test her angel food cake and tell the ladies on Thursday whether it was good. The reporter says it was fine.

Economy in buying foods, says Mrs. Chtwood, is to purchase tthe best and do your shopping judiciously, whatever that means.

Mrs. Chitwood is going to spend this coming summer in Chicago, where she will gather together a number of new recipes for her classes next year.

Several of the salads made on Tuesday were learned by Mrs. Chitwood from famous chefs in the East.

Miss Minnie Witherspoon, head of the Department of Domestic Science in the Corsicana high school, has many good things to say concerning Mrs. Chitwood's work.

The Daily Sun and SemiWeekly Morning Light is gratified at the large numbers of ladies attending, the school. They show their appreciation by the way they turn out.

The first ladies to arrive at the school on Wednesday entered the class room at 1:16 o'clock. "We want good seats," they said.

Mrs. Chitwood has learned many of her recipes in French schools in Montreal. Soon she is going to conduct a school in New Orleans. While there she intends to learn some of the new dishes for which that city is famous.

Miss Etta Yates makes the many beautiful frozen designs which the Frick Ice Cream Company has displayed at the school. Miss Yates is quite an artist, and intends to take special work in her line in the near future.

Powell has been represented by Mesdames Ernest Breithaupt, Z. T. Burke, J. A. Jackson and H. H. Hanks, while Mrs. F. F. Herbert came from Navarro to the session on Wednesday afternoon.

Many ladies from the county are in attendance at the cooking school.

Mrs. H. R. Van Fossen of Dallas has been in attendance at each session of the school. Miss Van Fossen is visiting Miss Minnie Witherspoon, but says she cannot afford to miss Mrs. Chitwood's lectures.

Misses Ouida Sparrow and Linnie Jackson of Eureka have been in constant attendance, and Mrs. A. E. Johns of Mildred finds the school the source of much valuable information.

Mrs. Robert Albritton of Dallas, was present on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. L. Simpson came all the way from Mexia to hear Mrs. Chitwood tell the ladies how to make cake.

Mrs. J. L. Jackson of Angus was in attendance on Wednesday.

VON HINDENBURG IS DRAGGED INTO FLAG HOISTING DISPUTE

By Associated Press.

Berlin, May 12.—Chancellor Luther's cabinet resigned today.

President Von Hindenburg acepted the cabinet's resignation, but asked it to carry on for the present.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, May 12.—The German Reichstag today adopted a non-confidence motion against Chancellor Luther, introduced by the democrats, by a vote of 176 to 146.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, May 12.—At the end of his first year in office, President Von Hindenburg, who has sought unity of the German people, found himself the center of a situation which probably will mean the fall of the Luther ministry.

The trouble concerns a government decree calling for the joint hoisting on German embassies and consulates abroad of both the new federal banner and the merchant flag of the old monarchist colors.

Aside from the political strife over the flag situation, the police are said to have discovered plans by organizations of the extreme right for a political coup. It is asserted that the police in searching homes of the leaders of the alleged plot seized the details for a concentric attack on Berlin and other evidence described as "startling proofs" of a conspiracy for a political uprising.

Bitterness over the demand of the Socialists for the rentention of the republican colors alone and by the parties of the right for the restoration of the monarchial flag has reached such a pitch in the Reichstag that it seemed likely today that the continuance in office of Chancellor Luther would be impossible. The democrats in a resolution have declared that further cooperation with him is impossible.

President Von Hindenburg during the controversy suggested a new national banner in which the color schemes of the old and the new flags would be retained. Yesterday the cabinet as a concession to the opposition decided to suspend the putting of the two-flag ordinance into force until August 1, when it was hoped a new national flag would have been adopted. This decision failed to appease the democrats. Later Luther said the decree would remain in force.

Heretofore President Von Hindenburg had been outside party conflict, serving as a symbol of unity whom both the right and life parties looked upon with admiration.

The cabinet, accordingly, has been much criticized for conjuring up a situation into which he has been dragged.

Von Hindenburg, now 79 years old, not only has made the German White House a greater social center than it was under the Ebert administration, but has made tours into the remotest parts of the nation in a manner which a younger head of the nation could not have improved upon.

Except East Prussia, separated from the rest of the country by the Polish corridor during his first year in office, he has visited every section of Germany. People turned out in thousands to greet him, irrespective of party affiliations.

ROALD AMUNDSEN FINALLY VICTORIOUS IN POLAR SEARCH

By Associated Press.

New York, May 12.—The airship Norge, second air craft in history to fly over the North Pole, was on its way to a landing field at Nome, Alaska, today, forty-fifth birthday of Lincoln Ellsworth, New York, one of the expedition's leaders.

The great balloon duplicated within three days the feat of the three engined airplane "Miss Josephine Ford," commanded by Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd, with the difference that Commander Byrd returned to King's Bay, Spitzbergen in a 1,600 mile non-stop flight, while the Norge continued a 2,000 mile journey toward Nome.

Roald Amundsen, commander of the third expedition to reach the North Pole, and the first human being to reach the South Pole, wired yesterday to Ralph Lomen, Norwegian counseate, to have 100 men ready to lower the dirigible. He said he would keep Mr. Lomen advised of progress by radio, and the consul had four anchors, known as "dead men," placed in readiness to hold the ship down.

The Norge left Spitzbergen at 10 a. m. Norwegian time, or 4 a. m. Eastern standard time Tuesday and sailed over the Pole with 17 members of its crew at 1 a. m. today Norwegian time, or 7 o'clock last night, Eastern standard time.

The news reached the New York Times and St. Louis Globe-Democrat by radio in the first message ever received from the North Pole.

Commander Byrd saw the Norge off Butt, remained at Kingsley to prepare, in the words of Lieut. Alton N. Parker, of his party, to "investigate every foot of real estate near the pole for Uncle Sam."

Twenty-five men have now seen the North Pole—six in the Peary expedition, Commander Byrd and his pilot, Floyd Bennett, and seventeen on the Norge.

The Norge reached the Pole in 15 hours from King's Bay, commander Byrd required 15 hours and 30 minutes to go to the Pole and back to King's Bay in his airplane, and Peary, using dog sleds, took eight months for the trip to the Pole and back to civilization.

The Norge traveled at approximately 50 miles an hour, and it was estimated that if she kept this pace, she would reach Point Barrow en route to Nome, at 10 p. m. tonight, Eastern standard time.

Viljhalmur Steffanson, Canadian explorer now living in New York, expressed delight today that Byrd and Ellsworth and Amundsen were realizing a prophecy of his made three years ago, that airships and dirigibles flying over the top of the world, would open the shortest and most practicable routes between the Eastern and Western hemispheres.

PROTECT LIVESTOCK BY STOPPING RABIES AMONG STATE DOGS

By Associated Press.

Austin, May 11.—Vaccination of dogs to render them immune from rabies in order to protect livestock is ordered in a proclamation issued today by the State Livestock Sanitary Commission, effective May 15. The proclamation was signed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. The penalty is quarantine of the animals.

Any owner or caretaker of any dog or dogs within the State are required by the proclamation to vaccinate their dogs under supervision of a veterinarian recognized by the Livestock Commission whenever the owner or caretaker is notified the dogs have been exposed.

The proclamation urges all cities to pass ordinances to compel dogs to be vaccinated and solicits aid of city, county and precinct officers.

Livestock has been in constant danger as a result of rabies among dogs, the proclamation states.

DICTATORSHIP BY GERMAN FASCISTS NIPPED BY POLICE

By Associated Press.

Berlin, May 12.—Discovery of detailed plans for the establishment of a German facist dictatorship whose object was the "restoration of the Hohenzollern empire in renewed splendor," was announced by police today.

Continuing police raids on the homes of all alleged German facist leaders, the police reported that they had unearthed a mass of documents which included a detailed plan for a concentrated attack on Berlin. While the police were questioning numerous political leaders of the alleged plot in an effort to get to the bottom of it, they said that they regarded its as merely a dream worked out on paper.

Among the documents taken by police were plans calling for the fircible resignation of President Von Hindenburg, the overthrow of the Federal and State constitutions by armed force, the dissolution of all parliaments, the execution without trial of strikers as well as other opponents, and expulsion of Jews from Germany and the confiscation of their property.

The seized documents, police said, revealed that the ring leaders of the conspiracy maintained correspondence with the former Kaiser and with Bavarian reactionaries like Hitler. One of the letters addressed to the former Kaiser read: "Your faithful followers are unswerving in their determination to re-erect in renewed splendor the Hohenzollern empire in a regenerated and liberated Germany."

The Kaiser rewarded the writer of this letter with an autographed photograph containing glowing praise of the plan.

Among the homes raided were those of Admiral Von Schoeder, Major Hans Von Osenstern, editor of the Facist Deutschezeizung and Dr. Henrich Class, chairman of the Pan-American League.

One of the letters alleged to have been found at the home of Dr. Class was addressed to Major Von Hindenburg, son of the president, and said that the parliamentrists had broken down and that a dictatorship was Germany's only salvation.

The police believe that execution of the plot had been held in abeyance, waiting for an opportune moment such as has been created by the present cabinet crisis or the threatened confiscation of the property of Germany's former rulers.

Count Frederick Von Westarp, conservative, today created a furore in the Reichstag when he denounced the police raids which began yesterday as unconstitutional. Among other homes searched was that of Colonel Nicolai, who headed the espionage section of the general staff during the world war.

The plans seized, police said, included a complete roster for a fascisti cabinet. Dr. Neumann, burgomaster of Luebeck, was slated for chancellor; General Von Moehl for minister of war; Dr. Hugenesberg, Nationalist member of the Reichstag and and financial sponsor of numerous reactional publications, for chancellor of the exchecquer, and Baron Von Euening of Bonn, whose home was raided today, for food dictator.

ATTITUDE OF SOME BRITISH EMPLOYERS BLOCKS RETURN WORK

DISPOSITION IS TO REFUSE STRIKERS THEIR OLD PLACES

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—Great Britain's nine day general strike, called off yesterday, switched today to what labor regarded as a widespread lockout by the employers against union men seeking to return to work on the old status.

This development came as one of the most dramatic of all those in the disturbed days since the industrial upheaval began. What it amounted to, according to labor men, was a disposition on the part of the employers to smash union influence as far as possible.

The Trades Union Congress, which conducted the general strike and announced its termination yesterday, acepted the guage and in a fighting statement declared the trades unions would resist to the utmost "any attempts to impose humiliating terms on the workers."

"Our resisting power is unimpaired," it asserted. Throughout the country the unions and employers were deadlocked—the unions demanding unqualified reinstatement of the strikers and the employers declining to deal with them except on their own terms. These in some cases called for tearing up the union cards, and there was even a refusal in certain instances to reemploy the strikers at all.

The Trade Union Congress, which placed the situation in the hands of the individual unions when it called off the general strike, was in a state of utmost anxiety as reports arrived from the provinces. It had in effect relinquished direct control of the situation. As reports piled in, however, the Trades Union Congress council intimated it might have to resume charge and asked the government to define its attitude toward the employers' conditions.

Then came another general meeting of the council, after which the Trades Union Congress headquarters issued its statement of warning.

Meanwhile, Premier Baldwin announced that the House of Commons would debate the strike situation at 6:30 o'clock this evening. The opinion was expressed in the lobby of the House that this was the outcome of a formal demand from the laborites after a meeting of the parliamentary labor party.

The battle which the country last night thought had been settled, continues. But instead of the massed fighting which proceeded during the nine days of the general strike it has developed for the time being into a hand to hand conflict to determine whether organized labor or the employers shall rule.

Instead of the resumption of formal conditions, an announcement came from the government that the emergency food services would be maintained.

Food convoys, with armed escorts, continued to pour through London today, and the scenes of yesterday ware repeated throughout with the populace still walking.

Strike Still Functioning.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—Great Britain's general strike theoretically is over, but practically is still continuing to function this morning more or less as it had for the last nine days.

Thorughout the country there is a disposition thus far on the part of many unions to stand out. There are various reasons for this. Among them are the men's desire in some instances to take advantage of the strike to exact better terms of employment; sympathy with the miners ,who are still on strike; refusal of some employers to discharge volunteer workers to make room for the old employes and the edict issued by other employers that they will not take back the workers until they have torn up their union cards,.

This situation is possible because the Trades Union Congress, in calling off the general strike, issued orders that the men were not to return to work pending instructions from their individual unions.

One of the first visible indications to the public that the general strike had ben settled was the reappearance of the newspapers.

Only two London morning papers were able to issue in their usual form today. These, however, printed only four pages. Other newspapers are hopefuly of bringing out their normal editions tomorrow if there is sufficient paper available.

In view of the happenings of recent days there is a movement in some newspaper quarters against the employment of union printers in the future. How far this movement will succeed cannot be predicted, but the owners of a group of four prominent Glasgow papers already have announced that in the future they will hire only non-union labor.

Comments were heard today that it was far easier to start a general strike than to halt one. There was some improvement in conditions this morning, traffic accommodations being a little better, but the citizens who retired last night with the thought that his troubles were ended, was amazed upon awakening to find that he still had to walk to work and endure other inconveniences.

The authorities predicted that these conditions would begin to right themselves forthwith, although it would take considerable time before conditions approached anything like normal.

As far as the miners are concerned their strike against lower wages and longer hours continues and nothing is expected to develop before their national meeting of delegates here tomorrow.

Say Unions Forced to Resist.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—The trades unions have no alternative but to resist to the utmost "any attempt to impose humiliating conditions on their workers." A statement to this effect was issued by the Trades Union Congress today after a special meeting called to consider the failure of employers to re-engage workers throughout the country.

"Our resisting power is unimpaired, the statement continued.

"We cannot tolerate the imposition of conditions designed to destroy trade unionism. Peace without vindictiveness is impossible unless the attacks are ended immediately. The workers will not surrender their hard earned gains."

MacDonald Says More Men Out.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—Opening the debate in the House of Commons on the strike situation, former Premier Ramsay MacDonald, the parliamentary labor leader, said more men were out today than yesterday. This was because the employers had proposed terms that would make it impossible to continue industry under peaceful conditions.

Mr. MacDonald said that if any attempts were made to smash trades unionism, "if any section or foolish person in the country, after the strike and yesterday's action thought that he could scrape the faces of trade unionism in the dust," he was "very much mistaken."

The labor spokesman added that labor must be treated as self-respecting workmen who were not going to crawl back.

Premier Baldwin, arising amid loud conservative cheers, said the supreme interests of the country required that the largest body of men possible be brought back to work at the earliest moment. The occasion called neither for retaliation, malice nor triumph.

Railway Men Asked to Stay Out.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—An official of the railway men's union today asserted that, in view of the difficulties surrounding the reinstatement of strikers the executives of three railway unions have called upon all railway men to continue the strike until they receive satisfactory assurance from their employers.

Transport Workers Remain Out.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—The Transport and General Workers Union, following the example of the National Union of Railway Men, has instructed its members to remain on strike until further orders.

Say Calling Off Strike Error.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—"The Trades Union Congress made a fatal mis take in calling off the general strike," Secretary A. J. Cook, of the miners federation, told the Associated Press today.

"We knew nothing about their reasons. There was no weakening of the men. We have seen hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the country to the effect that the men refuse to resume work."

Meeting Miners Postponed.

By Associated Press.

London, May 13.—The meeting of miners' delegates, scheduled to be held in London tomorrow has been postponed, Secretary A. J. Cook announced this afternoon.

BAPTISTS FIRM ON EVOLUTION IN HOUSTON MEETING

REFUSE TO HEAR KENTUCKY PASTOR ATTACK DR. E. Y. MULLINS

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, May 13.—Events centering around the wing led by Dr. J. Frank Norris, moved rapidly in the Southern Baptist Convention here today.

Dr. Norris made his first public appearance before the meeting at the forenoon session, to ask about his status as a messenger and later issued a statement in which he "openly dared the convention to oust me from the Southern Baptist Convention."

Dr. Norris is pastor of a church at Fort Worth.

He is understood to long have considered himself at odds with the convention over the question of evolution. Today he came to the convention hall from his tent headquarters several blocks away, where he has been holding meetings, to ask the convention if the report of the committee on changing the basis of representation, was directed at him. Dr. George W. McDaniel, president of the convention, replied that its application was general and Dr. Norris left the platform.

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, May 13.—The temper of the Southern Baptist Convention on any further consideration of the question of evolution was indicated here today when it refused to hear Dr. George Ragland, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lexington, Ky., read the remainder of a memorial attacking the position of Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville and two professors of that institution.

Dr. Ragland had read a portion of the memorial which he said had been adopted by the Blue Grass Ministers Association and at a mass meeting of members of the Elkhorn Baptist Association at Lexington, when Dr. L. E. Barton of Andalusa, Ala., objected to further considering it. When the motion was put a considerable volume of "ayes" answered in favor of hearing it. The negative vote however, appeared to be much larger and Dr. George W. McDaniel of Richmond, president of the convention, declared the motion lost. Dr. Ragland immediately left the platform.

A storm of applause greeted the decision of Dr. McDaniel.

The memorial pointed out that the writings and speeches of Dr. Mullins, Dr. A. T. Robertson, and Dr. John R. Campey, professors in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary hold to the evolution theory and therefore are not in accord with the historic Baptist position on the divine inspiration and authority of the scriptures, and the cardinal principle of divine scripture.

It also asserted that the position of trese men has developed in the denomination to the point that it is disturbing the peace of the churches and tending to destroy the unity and purpose which is "indispensible to any real and genuine co-operation in the missionary and benevolent enterprises of the denomination."

The memorial said, "Let it be understood that these resolutions do not make any charges against the brethren herein named as being evolutionists or modernists. Their own statements are adduced as evidence of their attitude toward evolution and modernism."

Dr. Mullins in a statement said he was "not surprised" that the convention refused to consider the Ragland memorial, because the charges were false.

METHODIST CONFERENCE TO HEAR REPORT UPON CHURCH CONSTITUTION ON FRIDAY

By Associated Press.

Memphis, Tenn., May 13.—Bishup W. N. Ainsworth, Macon, Ga., called the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to order here today for its ninth day of business.

With only one day left in which to get minor business out of the way before taking up the important question of a church constitution which is the special order of the day tomorrow the conference hurried through a mass of minor details preparatory to discussing the report of the special committee on constitution

Memorials sent to the different committees the first three days of the conference are now coming back most of them labelled "nonconcurrence recommended."

The major portion of them deal with changes in government and practice of the church and have been dealt with in a like manner ever since the church was founded.

Secrecy marked the work of the Episcopacy which has been holding executive sessions since the first day of the conference. It is understood that sub-committees are working on questions concerning the conduct of certain bishops and the proposed election of several more prelates. Reports from this committee are not expected until next week.

The church relations committee, through a sub-committee, continues to wrestle with unification.

It is likely members of the committee say, that a report will be adopted and sent to the conference that will meet with the approval of both friends and enemies of the proposed union.

LYNCH DAVIDSON SAYS DAN MOODY BORROWS PLATFORM

By Associated Press.

Dallas, May 13.—"Dan Moody has used enough Davidson planks in his platform to entitle him to the wholesale lumber business," was Lynch Davidson's comment today on Moody's opening speech at Taylar. The Houston lumberman, who is a candidate for governor, phrased his comment in the lighter vein.

"I am always glad to get a new customer and it looks like Dan is one of my best," he continued. Davidson's metaphorical remark referred to certain planks in Moody's platform which the Houston man said he himself was first to advocate.

"Mr. Moody is for civil service," he said. "In my platform published months ago I announced that by application of a civil service system to the state's affairs the political pie counter would be largely eliminated.

Mr. Moody spends several thousand words on the need of longer rural school terms, which I covered by saying: 'The adoption of the couty unit system in Texas will increase efficiency to the extent that the rural school term may be lengthened from 20 to 25 per cent.'

"Other planks which Mr. Moody requisitions are redrafting of the text book law, no vituperation and mudsliging in this campaign, state's rights, abuse of the pardon power, and less lawmaking. But while complaiuing of too many laws, Mr. Moody devoted 10,000 words of his 12,000 word announcement to discussion of new laws."

Mr. Davidson said that "it was hardly necessary for Mr. Moody to nail so many honesty signs on his platform. Honesty has been accepted as a principle of American government since 1776."

"Both my private and public life have stood the calcium light of a gubernatorial campaign," said Davidson, "and Mr. Moody has the distinction of being first to question by honesty and integrity after nine had opposed me in the previous race.

"The people are fixed in their determinmantion to rid Texas of Fergusonism and I join in that common cause. I announced at the close of the last campaign that I would be a candidate against the Fergusons.

"I later reiterated my opposition to them, and it was conceded that my candidacy would easily defeat them and that other entries would split the vote and muddy the waters. In the face of these facts, Mr. Moody entered the race to save Texas from Fergusonism, and the excuse given in his platform is that the announced candidates did not apppreciate the 'gravity of honesty and integrity in government.

"His next excuse is the statement that I have branded as a mistake his efforts to compel road contractors to return unconscionable profits, having reference to my interview of last November.

"Here is an excerpt from that interview: 'The highest possible commendation is due the youthful attorney general for his splendid zeal in behalf of the public interests.'

"And this is why Mr. Moody, in order to 'save Texas from Furgusonism' enters the race and splits the anti-Ferguson vote.

"In his lengthy platform, Mr. Moody barely mentions our greatest problems, agriculture, flunctuation of cotton prices, and greatest of all the monopoly ownership of our oil and mineral resources."

ONE REPORT SAYS MANY HAVE ALREADY BEEN KILLED WARSAW

FORMER PREMIER MARSHAL PILSUDSKI IS LEADING REVOLUTION

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 13.—Pilsudski revolutionary forces have occupied Warsaw except for the presidential residence which is protected by loyal troops said official advices today to the State Department.

The dispatch was sent by the American legation at Warsaw at 10 a. m. today. It said the situation in other parts of Poland was "uncertain."

The president of Poland, it said, had refused to negotiate with insurgent leaders and "is remaining in his residence protected by men from the officers' school and a few faithful companies."

There was some street fighting during the night and early morning.

By Associated Press.

Paris, May 13.—The Temps reports that Marshal Pilsudski was in control of Warsaw at 8 o'clock last night, President Wojciechowski, and the members of the government retiring to the Belveder Palace. Both sides are negotiating in order to avoid bloodshed. The city was calm during the night.

By Associated Press.

Paris, May 13.—The veil of mystery hung over the situation in Poland this morning. Behind it momentous events were believed to be in progress, centering about the famous figure of the former premier, Marshal Pilsudski, who is at the head of a revolt which has made it necessary for the government to take precautionary measures to defend the city of Warsaw. Berlin reports that many persons have been killed or wounded in street fighting in Warsaw.

Advices from the Polish capital say that machine guns have been placed on top of government buildings and that troops loyal to the government are guarding the bridges and lines of communication.

Whether Marshal Pilsudski is leading the revolt to install himself as dictator or merely is injecting a military operation into the political situation to bring the left parties back into office is not yet clear. Beyond a statement sent out by the official Polish agency, which claims that the government is master of the situation, no direct news has been received from Warsaw, either owing to the usual habit in Poland of putting on a censorship when grave events are in progress, or because one or the other of the contending parties has cut out the wires and put the radio out of commission.

Such news as has been received in Paris has come mostly by way of Berlin, and consequently it is believed to be subject to caution. According to the version of the situation current in the German capital, Marshal Pilsudski, at the head of a considerable force, has verily driven the Polish government to bay and is dictating terms to the president of the republic.

Another version, coming by way of Prague, Czech-Slavocia is rather to bear out the Polish official statement, which represents Marshal Pilsudski as being at the head of a small force which could be checked by a movement of troops. Pilsudiski has been in opposition to the government ever since the ministery of Premier Witos in 1923 eliminated him from the army, and it is regarded here as quite likely that the return of Witers to power in succession to Premier Skrzynski, with the government made up of adherents of the center and right parties, goaded Pilsudski into trying to carry out a military coup.

Troops to Aid Government.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, May 13—A counter movement has been started against Marshal Pilsudski, whose troops are now in Warsaw, according to reports received from Danzig. Armed forces, representing the parties of the right, are marching to Warsaw to relieve the government troops in the city.

ASSOCIATED PRESS OFFICIAL SPEAKS AT JOURNALISM WEEK

By Associated Press.

Columbia, Mo., May 12.—"All news that is true, clean and interesting is worth while," said Edgar T. Cutter, Chicago, Superintendent of the Central Division of the Associated Press, in a Talk here today before the Missouri School of Journalism, at the "Journalism Week" erercises.

Mr. Cutter's subject was "The News That Is Worth While." He said:

"Orland Kay Armstrong has written and his story has been issued through the University of Missouri School of Journalism, a critical comparison of the newspapers of St. Louis of fifty years ago and of today, disclosing very interesting figures. Half a century ago sport news, it was shown, occupied 1.7 per cent of the news space of one paper. Today sports takes the lead, as shown by these averages in inches for 1925 Post-Dispatch:

Sports 382.9, business 301.5, crime 161.3, personal 128.2, foreign 105.4, politics 101.5, illustrations 54.9, radio 33, society 20.9, religion 11.2, theatre 10.6, and miscellaneoeus 193.6, a daily total of 1504.8 inches of news.

"Fifty years ago these averages prevailed: Business 174.3, legal 85.7, personal 82.4, crime 32, politics 26.3, foreign 19.7, sports 11.3, religion 9.4, miscellaneous 106.7, a total of 340.7 inches daily.

"This means that more than one-fourth the total news space today in one paper at least is devoted to sport.

"With every university building a million dollar stadium and high schools everywhere playing basketball, to say nothing of the increased interest in golf and other sports, there seems to be a natural explanation for the added volume of sport new printed.

Increase in Crime News

"The cause of the tremendous volume of crime news, which since the world war has increased in volume about 33 1-3 per cent, may as Mr. Armstrong properly says, be 'left for sociology and crimnology to determine.'

"Well, what you ask, is worth while news? Is it sports, is it crime news, is it business?? No, none of these alone but they each have their place. We do not quarrel with decent sport news, we favor it, for all classes take part in it. It is worth while news and we spread it.

"No one knows exactly why there is so much crime, but news about the major part of it is history, the history of our times, and as such it is valuable. Certain unspeakable crime is daily thrown aside as worthless news and never reaches the public, and much more trivial crime is passed over unnoticed. Newspapers do not revel in revolting things. This fact is known universally to newspaper men but not to the public, it seems, as was disclosed at a conference in Chicago last fall of members of the state supreme court, and leading members of the bar and press.

"A justice of the supreme court spoke in glowing terms of the suppression by his home town paper of a certain crime that recently had come to his attention. The newspaper men present were amused by the incident for everyone of them was familiar with the fact that newspapers everywhere daily discard such stuff and consider it only the natural part of a day's work.

All Want To Know Facts

"And what is worth while news? Well, the testimony, for one thing, before the congressional committee on prohibition, in which each side was given equal space by The Associated Press and by newspapers generally. That was worth while because on a subject of deep concern to all, and, regardless of personal attitudes of individual newspapers or readers, all people wanted to know the facts impartially and fully. But it was worth while from a news standpoint only if it was covered fairly, without editorializing and without embellishing.

"There are many other subjects, big and little, that are worth while—the activities of various organizations, business, are, the making of books, religion, science, education, foreign news, and the subjects must be varied if the newspaper is to be a success, for it goes to all classes of people. Indeed, no other public service so generally serves all people. Remember that when you see something in the newspaper that does not interest you, it interesst someone. Each person is critical of the newspaper which carried the particular activity which means so much to him, either business, professional or pleasure.

"A very important part of the work of a news agency like The Associated Press is to carry things that bring pleasure and entertaining interesting side lights on life that go to make up that daily history. The Associated Press will handle, and newspaperst generally will print anything that is decent. It need not relate to the heavy proceedings of an investigation or a hearing but must be accurate, should be entertaining where the subject will permit, and can be kindly.

"T. W. Johnson, late associate editor of The Kansas City Star, always urged his editors never to stress the non-essentials in a story, never to say those unnecessary things that might satisfy the gossip but would distress or harm the relatives of the man who had taken his life or had failed in business.

Always Ready To Correct Error

"One thing The Associated Press has insisted upon is that its editors be ready at all times to correct an error that has hurt an individual, a concern, or a movement. It never desires to gain a news beat at the cost of inaccuracy or to overplay a story to 'make a showing'—to overstretch a fact to win a front page position.

"Universities have more and more furnished news that is worth while. When Prof. A. A. Michelson of the University of Chicago disclosed his highly technical discoveries regarding light waves it was a story hard for the layman to understand, but it was put in such shape by a conscientious reporter that it won the personal praise of the scientist and first position in hundreds of newspapers.

When Dr. Edgar A. Goodspeed's translation of the New Testament came out The Associated Press counted it worth while from a news standpoint and sent columns on it over its 120,000 miles of wires Newspapers generally agreed that it was good news and editoralized on it as well as printed it freely. In fact, no other piece of news regarding the Bible has had as wide newspaper circulation in half a century. One newspaper man, accounting for the appeal of the story, said: 'It is a Bible for the "man in the street"', and no medium reaches the "man in the street" so thoroughly as the newspaper.

Another Worth While Story

"Another worth while story of recent date was the dedication at the University of Missouri of a stone from St. Paul's cathedral, London, a touch worked out by the noted dean of schools of journalism, Walter Williams of Columbia. It was considered worth while because, as Mr. E. Lansing Ray, publisher of The St. Louis Globe Democrat in introducing Ambassador Howard, said: 'The stone is a declaration of the impress made upon the contemporary journalism by this man (Walter Williams) and the institution which he created. But it is more than that. It is a sign and a symbol of the international relation of journalism. It is a silent plea for the fostering of understanding and good will among nations through the persuasive and constant power of the press.'

"When Mr. George B. Dealey, veteran publisher of Dallas in accepting the stone upon behalf of the newspapers of the United States made this statement it was worth while news: 'Than this school of journalism, there is, in my opinion, no more effective force at work in the United States to establish and make all-prevailing that sense of duty and responsibility which must govern our newspapers if they are to be equal to the opportunity which is theirs.'

"Likewise when the Kansas City Journal published the discovery that malleable glass can be poured cold it was worth while news.

"These things and others too numerous to mention have been covered daily year in and year out by The Associated Press, mostly in the daily run of work, and for this this association has been called one of the greatest constructive forces in the world.

"If it has covered divorce and attack trials it has omitted the unnecessarily salacious. In covering suicides it has omitted the names of poisons because it was considered suggestive, and where it has covered theatricals, new books, and art, it has ommited the commonplace and the nasty, and avoided bald advertising or questions obviously controversial.

"It has tried to avoid using half truths, which are worse than lies; has attempted to make no attack on religious or other undertakings, but to write anything that is decent, demanding only that it be interesting and truthful.

Non-Money Making Body

"It has been possible to carry out this program for the reason that The Associated Press is a mutual, non-money making organization, backed by and in the control of its 1250 daily newspaper members.

"That such a condition is vital for this country is self-evident and I ask you—Can you think of anything tending to create more chaos, than that its news sources be in the hands of private interests, that the people be given an incorrect record of the world's daily history, or have placed in their homes those false or filthy things which only distort life and emphasize crime and license.

"The work of any news agency or any newspaper is more importaant than the news carrying of murders, trials and things of that sort. State governments, national governments, foreign governments, have had faith in The Associated Press and its members and they have given it worth while news in advance. The resolutions adopted by great political conventions, church gatherings and international conclaves, the messages of presidents and state officials have been handed over in trust, because it was known they would be treated with respect and guarded against premature use.

Other Worth While News

"Sports and crime, disasters and politics, must be considered worth while news and such events must be covered carefully and fully and impartially. But there must be a constant search for that other worth while news—the scientific and religious and research news that is to make for the world's education and advancement, that, that finally is to help the people. Yes, and those seemingly smaller things that disclose kindliness and brotherliness. The things that make people understand life and its motives, make worth while news.

"Mr. Ray's statement about the bringing together of two countries was good news because it tended to make two peoples understand each other better, and to know what each other was doing and how they were doing it—helping to reach for higher things, that need of building for the future. It applies to all people.

"That is something of what The Associated Press is trying to do, aside from covering the ordinary daily happenings, and newspapers universally are in accord with the program. Publishers generally will tell you that they would not be in this business simply for the money-making. They feel they have a real part in the world's work in instructing an deducating and helping mankind.

"Newspaper work has been spoken of by its followers as the highest of callings, rather conceited perhaps, but many concede it to be just that, because the newspaper reaches the greatest number of people.

"And there is a mighty triangle of interests which, if working in perfect unanimity, could develop such a volume of "the news that is worth while," that it could accomplish a stupendous benefit to mankind. This combination of educational forces will be composed, is the Church, the College and the Press."

SHERMAN WOMAN ASKS WHEREABOUTS OF HALF BROTHER

Inquiry has been made of the whereabouts of Horace Sylvester Maybury by his sister in Sherman in a letter received by the Daily Sun Thursday.

Mr. Maybury is thought to be living in or near Corsicana. It appears from the letter from Miss Luna Pierce, a half sister, now living in Sherman, has been separated from her half brother, who is now about 30 years old, since childhood. The information is also given that Mr. Maybury's mother died and was buried here in 1903. At the time of her death, however, her name was Estes.

The inquiring half-sister, it appears, was a child of her mother's first marriage and the half brother sought is a child of a second marriage, and the mother was married the third time before death.

The children, small at the time of their mother's death, were taken in charge by different families and hence have known nothing of each other since.

The family raising Miss Pierce, the older child, who is now about 35 years old, have died, and left little information to the adopted daughter as to her half-brother, Maybury. Since her foster parents have died the adopted daughter is especially anxious to locate her only brother, who is said to be about 30 years of age at this time.

So far local inquiry has failed to locate Mr. Maybury. If any one has any information that would lead to locating him, it would be greatly appreciated.

Revival Continues On South Sixteenth

The revival is on at 804 South Sixteenth street. The Lord has met with us in a wonderful way in this place. There have been already nineteen conversions and several wonderful healings. Brother R. M. Thomas, who is in charge, knows how to wield the Sword of Truth that it might reach the hearts of men and women.

Last night there was a woman at the altar for healing. One woman who has heart trouble and kidney trouble said she had such poor circulation that her body had not been real warm for months. After prayer was offered for her, said she felt the warm blood going through her body. The next healing service is Saturday night. Bring your sick ones. Let God heal them.

This is no new Gospel. It is the same message that was preached on the Hills of Judea and along the shores of Galilee by Christ and His disciples. It is the message He committed to the church to be given to the whole world.

RESCUERS FIND CHILD DEAD NEAR BOTTOM OF SMALL WELL AFTER WORKING 12 HOURS

By Associated Press.

Benton Harbor, Mich, May 11.—After digging down 38 feet volunteer workers late last night took from a well on a farm near here the body of the 14-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elkneh Carter. More than 500 workers, spurred on by the possibility that the child might still be alive, worked for more than 12 hours to reach the baby.

After efforts to revive the infant with a pulmotor proved unavailing, Dr. W. T. Bertrand, pronounced him dead. He said death was caused by suffocation and not by the fall, bearing out the theory on which rescue work was started, that if the child could be reached in time it might be taken out alive. No bruises were found on the body.

The child was missed about nine o'clock yesterday morning and shortly after it was ascertained that he had fallen into the well. The shaft leading to the water was so narrow that it was believed the child had slipped gradually, rather than fallen into the well. Rescuers located the body where it had lodged about four feet above the water. The child was so tightly wedged against the wall of the shaft that it was impossible to bring him up with grapping hooks fastened in his clothing.

Efforts were made to sink a shaft wide enough for a man to go down, but the sand saved in constantly and recuers were forced to abandon this method. Grading shovels and road scrapers were brought and an inverted cone-shaped hole, with its point where the child lay and about 75 feet in diameter at the top, was dug.

SHIP LOADED WITH LIQUOR AND CREW "ROARING DRUNK AND OBSTREPEROUS" TAKEN

By Associated Press.

New York, May 12.—Twenty-three sailors, brought into port "roaring drunk and obstreperous," and none of whom admitted they were officers, were held today on the steamer Donetta, loaded with a $1,420,000 liquor cargo, accused of piracy.

Another ship, the Atlanta, described as a 50-foot power boat with an armored superstructure, was free today after a pitched battle last night near Atlantic City with patrol boat 113.

The Donneta was captured Monday night 60 miles southeast of Atlantic City by the coast guard cutter Seneca and brought into New York last night where it was announced the status of liberty and the hatches were sealed.

Coast guardsmen called it the biggest prohibition prize captured in two years, and expressed the belief it was connected with a bootleg ring of Port Chester, N. Y. Alleged members of this ring were indicted Monday.

The ship flew the American flag but, no ship's papers nor officers' credentials were found on it, which brings it under a technical classification of piracy, guardsmen say.

Commander Blake of the Seneca said that when he pulled alongside the Donneta at sea he "got a gigantic whiff of alcoholic content which would have staggered a theatre crowd." When he boarded it, he said, champagne was flowing freely. Members of the crew were on deck drinking it from pitchers.

After placing a prize crew on board, commander Blake took the Donnetta in tow and, battling a gale, he headed for New York.

The freighter's cargo had shifted and she listed dangerously to starboard as she labored up New York bay behind the Seneca.

Assistant United States Attorney Herman T. Stichman, who met the Donnetta down the bay, said her cargo consisted of 500 drums of Belgian alcohol, each containing 90 gallons; 7,500 cases of champagne valued at $125 a case, and 7,500 cases of Italian wines, Scotch whiskey and liquors valued at $50 a case.

Asked if the United States coast guard could board an American ship beyond the 12 mile limit, Mr. Stichman said "that is an attribute of sovereignty. The Donnetta, formerly the Jeanette, is 235 feet long and of 1,250 tons gross. She sailed from Palatka, Fla., bound for Philadelphia, reaching Marcus Hook, Del., April 22, having been reported previously as flying the "Not under control" signal. Some members of the crew, however, told Mr. Stichman they had joined the ship two days ago in Philadelphia. Others said they had signed at Boston on the same day and one said he had boarded the ship at Halifax.

EVOLUTION GIVEN SHORT SHRIFT SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION HOUSTON TODAY

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, May 21.—Short shift was given the question of evolution in the Southern Baptist convention here today.

"This convention accepts Genesis," in its principals, "as teaches that man was the especial creation of God and rejects every theory of evolution or otherwise which teaches that man originated in, or came by way of, a lower animal ancestry."

After preliminary religious services, the convention swung into its business session.

Dr. George W. McDaniel of Richmond was the only nominee for president and after the secretary had been instructed to cast the ballot of the convention for him, the delegates stood for a moment in tribute to him.

With the same procedure other officers were chosen. Hight C. Moore, Nashville, and J. Henry Burnett, Murfreesboro, Tenn., were re-elected secretaries; George W. Norton, Louisville, Ky., was again named treasurer, and Wililam Patrick Harvey of Louisville was re-elected auditor.

Four new vice presidents were chosen including O. S. Lattimore of Austin, a member of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals; John D. Mell, Athens, Ga., professor in the University of Georgia; Rev. A. M. Bennett, Tampa, Fla., and Lou's J. Bristow, New Orleans, superintendent of the Baptist hospital there.

COURT VICTORY OF FORMER ARKANSAS SHERIFF REPORTED; PROCEEDINGS-COURT APPEALS

By Associated Press.

Austin, May 12.—Numerous legal attempts of A. J. Gurley, former Arkansas sheriff, to prevent his return to that State, were successful here today. The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled that he should be released on the ground that the record failed to show that his pardon by the acting governor of Arkansas was invalid. He was pardoned while serving five years for misappropriation of funds. The pardon was revoked upon the return to Arkansas of Governor Tom Terral. In the meantime Gurley had come to Texas and has since that time been fighting attempts to extradite him. He is now in jail at New Boston, Bowie county, according to word from Texarkana.

C. S. McNeely sentenced to life for killing J. W. Nichols in Bell county, September 15, 1924, was denied motion for rehearing.

Conviction of John Lewellen, sentenced to 25 years for the slaying of John Zurovec, November 30, 1920, in Bell county, was affirmed.

The court affirmed the conviction of Wililam Meador, sentenced to ten years in Nolan county for the killing of Asa Rawls, May 17, 1922.

Contending the State had failed to show malice, attorneys today again asked the Criminal Appeals Court to grant bail for H. P. Fall, charged with murder in Matagorda county in connection with the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Camden Sanborn. Since the killings in February, Fall has been confined at Bay City. The court recently refused bail.

"A Great Deal Has Been Said About the Weather, But Nothing Has Ever Been Done About It"

That holds good now just as much as when Mark Twain first made the remark. So we won't say a word about the hot weather that's coming. We're not interested in it. We're interested only in keeping cool. A man can do something about that of course, if he knows the right clothes to wear. Light porous fabrics, with just enough body to take fine tailoring. We have some splendid ones, smart looking, and the coolest things you can put on.

Stock Market is Unsettled.

By Associated Press.

New York, May 13.—Slightly higher price levels were established at the opening of today's stock market, although dealings were confined largely to professional trading activities. Motors showed a tendency to recover under the leadership of General Motors, which was bought on expectations that a substantal extra dividend would be voted by the directors today. A steady demand for Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line and other high grade rails also imparted a firmer tone to trading.

The early improvement was short lived, another successful drive against the motor and prominent specialty shares quickly unsettling the market. General Motors lost its initial gains and declines of about a point were registered by Hudson and Jordan before the end of the first half hour. The selling movement also spread to Baldwin, International Cement, International Match preferred, Foundation Company, United States Cast Iron Pipe and Rado,i each of which fell back a point or more.

In contrast to this set back, however, was the sustained demand for rail and oil shares, with independent strength shown by American Smelting and South Porto Rico Sugar.

A sharp break of eighteen points in the Italian lire, which was offered around 3.80 cents, a new low rate, featured the irregular foreign exchange market.

Sterling eased slightly to 4.85 3-4.

No more RHEUMATISM

IT'S GONE! That awful agony! Rheumatism can't stand the rich, red blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build.

But rheumatism will bring pain and misery to your joints and muscles just as long as you are without plenty of rich, red blood in your system.

It's the red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build that drive out of your system the impurities that cause rheumatism. And until you do build up your blood to where it is pure and rich and red, you simply can't get rid of rheumatism.

And S. S. S. is the thing. Red blood conquers rheumatism. Everybody knows that.

S. S. S. means millions of red-blood-cells—means health all over. No more rheumatism. Nights of rest — days of joy, filled with the happiness of accomplishment—made possible by a body brimful of red blooded life, energy and vitality.

S.S.S.

That's what the end of rheumatism means—that's what S. S. S. brings to you. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

Zion's Rest Home Demonstration Club.

The Home Demonstration Club of Zion's Rest met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Leo Palmer where a very interesting session was entered upon. The session for the hour was entered upon with the reading of a portion of Scripture from Matthew, 4th chapter, by Mrs. W. A. Dobbin, after which a number of sentence prayers were offered. Roll call followed, while each member present answered, describing their preference in dress appearance; such as color, material, etc., for special and ordinary occasions.

Mrs. Bryan offered a very interesting discourse on the subject of "Dressing to conform with personality." Her remarks were well rendered and to the point, and were received with enthusiasm and good cheer.

Miss Lawson, demonstration agent, put on a demonstration in colors and fabric by placing the actual material in contact with the individual and brought to actual view the great importance of color, fabric material, etc., which each lady should choose in making up her wardrobe and wearing apparel, stressing the fact that one should not dress according to the views of others, but according to their own individual personality. The meeting was a grand success and a delightful occasion, and the club will meet next at the home of Mrs. E. J. Jones tomorrow (Wednesday), at 10 a. m. at which time Miss Lola Blair, State Agent, will demonstrate angel-food cake and pastry baking.

"COOK" AND "KITCHEN"

Now that the annual cooking school of the Corsicana Daily Sun and the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Morning Light is attracting the attention of the women of Corsicana and Navarro county such words as "cook," "kitchen," "cuisine," and "culinary" will be heard in all conversation. And when the women of a community become interested in a thing the men folks just naturally and automatically become interested. With the hundreds of women visiting the cooking school each day the men are bound to hear all about it every night. Now that so many are enthusiastically interested in the above mentioned words we will run these words to their lair. We do not know whether Mrs. Ida Chitwood, who is conducting the cooking school, will concur with us in our findings but we will take a chance.

A cook works in a kitchen, but it hardly appears at first glance that both the words "cook and "kitchen" are closely related in their ancestry—for words do have ancestries, and sometimes very interisting ones. Cook, according to The Mentor, was first a noun in English, then became a verb, coming from the Latin coquere, meaning "to cook." "Kitchen," which was originally spelled without the t, can be traced back to "old English," or Anglo-Saxon, and from there back to a vulgar Latin word for "kitchen," coquina, from the same word that was the parent of cook—namely, coquere, "to cook." So "cook" and "kitchen" may be said to be cousins—the worker being closely related to the place of his work! The fact that the Latin word for cooking became prevalent in almost all European languages (as it did) is a living testimony of the superiority of Roman cooking. The Romans were such good cooks, in other words, that we still use their words for 'cook" and "kitchen." in forms very much changed by the unrecorded twisting of countless tongues down through generations and generations of mouths which both ate and spoke.

"Cook," "kitchen," "cuisine," and "culinary" are all blood relatives. It might be added that kiln, a place for drying bricks, is perhaps what might be called a second cousin of "kitchen" for it also comes from the Latin word culina, meaning "kitchen."

WRITE YOUR OWN EDITORIAL ON THIS.

An interesting little story on Russian Bolshevism in business appeared on the editorial pages of a recent issue of the Public Service Magazine and is reproduced as follows:

"One of the magazine writers, William G. Shepherd, tells about a small merchant in Russia whose business, before the reign of bolshevism paid him about $5,000 a year. When bolshevists got in the saddle some of the employes said, 'Why should this man get so much money? Why shouldn't we take over the business, ourselves?'

"Before taking it over the employes demanded more pay and got it. But that didn't satisfy them. They must run the business. They knew it paid big returns and why shouldn't they get them?

"They took over the business. For a time it went well. Then as bolshevism began to work well new business stopped coming in. Soon they were unable to meet their payroll. They had not anticipated this. In fact, they hadn't even thought of any adversities in the running of a business. They had always got their pay regular and evidently imagined the business run itself. When they finally got where they couldn't move they sent for the former owner and asked him to take back the business. He refused. He had gone where government was stable and did not permit such confiscation of property.

"These are the facts. Lay them down alongside of a lot of the talk you have heard, of the wild ideas expressed by radicals or those who think they could run the business better than the man who owns and runs it and then write your own editorial comment on it."

KEEP ALL INFORMED

Among the more serious aspects of the strike in England is the suspension of newspaper publications. In a national crisis rumors fly thick and fast and the more absurd the rumor the faster it flies and the more general acceptance it obtains.

The daily newspaper acts as a corrective for the ill effects of such rumors. The modern newspaper prints official statements from both sides or parties to a national dispute. It prints the facts as they develop. The efforts of the alarmists flatten out before they get well started. The truth is given the masses before panic, or mob violence, can start. Newspapers make it possible for the public to judge fairly the conduct and even the motives of the principals to the dispute.

Without the general dissemination of news—uncontrolled, independently gathered and truthfully presented news—anything may happen. Distrist and fear grow. The situation becomes ripe for destructive action of the most violent kind.

It is reported that the government intends to disseminate news by assuming control of wireless broadcasting stations, and keeping the public thus informed. That is probably better than nothing. But such news will be obviously partisan. It will not command the confidence—it cannot—that the newspaper has earned. Particularly with knowledge of the stuff that was disseminated as news by the government during the war comparatively fresh in the minds of the British public, it will be looked upon with distrust. That will also be true of any news bulletins the government may print and distribute.

It is to be hoped, for the sake of the entire world, that the general strike will be of very short duration. And one way to shorten it is to keep the general public of Britain well informed.

RIBBONS OF CONCRETE

Industrialism has become so commonplace in the American mind that new industries can spring up and grow to considerable magnitude without the general public realizing its existence and importance. One such industry is road construction.

During the highway construction season now in full swing throughout a greater part of the United States there will be built 25,000 miles, a much greater mileage of municipal, county and township roads and, in addition, the federal government will complete 14,000 miles of federal-aid highways begun last year and inaugurate a 1926 highway improvement program of 2000 more miles.

The federal government is now spending $75,000,000 a year in federal-aid roads. All of this money is matched dollar for dollar by the respective states in which it is expended. There are a number of states spending $50,000,000 or more a year for good roads and county, township and municipal highway appropriations represent a tremendous sum each year.

This country has only been building roads on the "grand scale" for a relatively few years. It was the advent of the automobile that made the country conscious of its need for hard surfaced year round highways and it seemed that public opinion, so long opposed to highway debts, was enlisted in support of the nation-wide good roads movement over night.

Transcontinental motor tourists can now travel from coast to coast over improved highways and similar routes stretch from the Canadian border to the Gulf states.

The cost of poor roads is isolation for some sections of the country, hardship and financial loss to agricultural interests, dangerous provincialism and hindering of the country's industrial and commercial growth and development of its interior.

Good roads are the panacea for all these ills.

"The best ever" is the concensus of opinion concerning the cooking school of the Daily Sun—which is saying a lot as the cooking schools of the past have been mighty hard to beat.

METHODISTS ARE FACED WITH MANY IMPORTANT REPORTS

By Associated Press.

Memphis, Tenn., May 11.—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by a rising vote today called upon Congress to reject "all legislation which would weaken the Volstead Act" and pass "all legislation which has been recommended by the prohibition department of the United States Government."

Demand is made that the law be enforced "among the high in social life who have declared they will have intoxicants regardless of the constitution."

Appropriation of $24,000 for the board of temperance annually also was authorized after stiff opposition. Dr. C. W. Burgin of Texas, moved to strike out the appropriation.

Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker, also of Texas spoke in favor of "spending $24,000 a year for propaganda in Washington and elsewhere for strengthening the prohibition law." posed to.T

A delegate asked if it was proposed to establish a "lobbying bureau in Washington."

"We are going to give Wayne Wheeler a good man to help him," Dr. Knickerbocker repiled.

Memphis, Tenn., May 11.—Faced with a large number of recommendations and reports from various standing committees and with Dr. S. Parks Cadman, head of the Federal Council of Churches scheduled to speak the twentieth general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, came to order under the gavel of Bishop U. V. W. Darlington here today.

Among the reports to be handled was one from the committee on temperance recommending that committee be changed to a board of temperance, to be active for the quadrennial and the membership increased from 15 to 17.

Reports from the special sub-committee on unification are expected this afternoon in the committee of church relations. The sub-committee has been working almost day and night on the subject.

The committee on the spiritual state of the church also has been in legislative session since it received a resolution Saturday from Rev. Bascom Anthony of Georgia demanding that the general conference take a stand which would ask all ministers not subscribing to the creed of the church to leave the denomination.

W. T. Wilson of Rice was here Tuesday morning.

C. V. McCord, constable of Frost, was a business visitor in Corsicana Tuesday afternoon.

MANY GRADUATES TEXAS A. AND M. WILL BE TRAINED LEADERS

YOUNG MEN BEING TRAINED AS AGRICULTURAL LEADERS OF STATE

Special to the Sun.

College Station, Texas, May 12.—More than one hundred graduates of agriculture will go out into the state from the A. & M. College of Texas as trained leaders and agricultural workers after the graduation exercises on June 1. Some 25 of these men will go into Smith-Hughes teaching, that is, as teachers of agriculture in the high schools over the state where from one to three years of work is given the students in different lines of agriculture. Approximately 25 more of the group will go into some phase of practical agriculture, including general farming, ranching, poultry raising, truck farming, etc. Most of these men will take charge of places owned by their parents. The remainder of the group will enter other lines of trained agricultural work, as county agents, cotton breeders, and cotton marketing specialists.

"The criticism is made of the College that we are not sending men back to the farms after they complete their studies in agriculture, said President Walton in discussing the great number of men who will complete the prescribed course for the degree of bachelor of science in agriculture at the College this spring. It is extremely doubtful to me whether the College would be justified in educating men to go back and farm or operate a ranch primarily for their own benefit and compensation. I take it rather, that we are to train the agricultural leaders. Men coming out of the College every year and engaging in the teaching of agriculture, county agent work and many other fields of agricultural leadership are rendereding a much greater service to the state than they would were they going back to operate their own farms. Some of these men are remaking rural communities, some of them, by their studies in agriculture and their discovery of new strins of farm crops, livestock, etc., are giving enough returns to the State to repay all the money that has been put into the School by the Legislature."

Leaders of the Trades Union Congress, which initiated the movement in sympathy with the striking miners visited Premier Baldwin and his cabinet ministers at Number 10 Downing street at noon and announced that the strike was over.

This action taken, Chairman Arthur Pugh said, in order to enable resumption of the negotiations for settlement of the miners' grievances, which negotiations the government declared could not be resumed while the general strike lasted.

The Trades Union Congress forthwith dispatched telegrams to this effect to the affiliated unions throughout the country.

The individual unions before acting, must await definite instruction from their own executive councils. However, it is expected the Trades Union Congress instructions will have quick effect and that the wheels of industry will begin to turn almost immediately.

The conditions on which the strike was called are off:

The governmental subsidy to the coal industry will be resumed temporarily.

The lockout against the miners will be withdrawn.

The wages board will be established to revise the miners' wages, with the understanding that there shall be no revision without sufficient assurances that the measures recommended for re-organization of the mining industry by the Royal Coal Commission shall be put into effect.

Almost as soon as the decision was made known to the cabinet it was flashed throughout the country by radio to the anxious public, who had been informed earlier that strong peace rumors were in the air.

In the London hotels and restaurants announcement of the great news was received with almost hysterical cries and hand clapping and a moment later when an orchestra on the radio struck up "God Save the King," thousands sprang to their feet and stood at attention.

The general strike began Monday of last week at midnight, being called to support the miners in their stand against reduction of pay and lengthening working hours.

The number of men who responded to the strike call was never definitely fixed, either by the government of the Trades Union Congress, but some authorities placed the figure as high as five million, including the 1,120,000 miners.

The first effect of the strike was to tie up transportation, and the government hurriedly recruited volunteer workers. Measures planned long in advance to cope with any such contingency were put into effect to assure the population's food supply and distributing centers were organized in all the large cities.

There were minor disorders in various parts of the country, especially along the Clyde side, the radical center of Scotland, and in the dock district of London. Most of these disturbances which arose through attempts to stop the operation of the volunteer services, were attributed, however, to disorderly elements rather than to the strikers.

The termination of the general strike is based on negotiations conducted unofficially by Sir Herbert Samuel, chairman of the Royal Coal Commission, and Chairman Pugh of the general council of the Trades Union Congress, the latter accepting Sir Herbert's proposals as a basis for resumption of negotiations.

SMALL WELL FOUND ON WALTON TRACT NORTH CORSICANA

A small well good for several barrels of crude a day, has been completed on the Walton tract north of Corsicana, by the Washington Oil Corporation of Seattle. The well is being drilled by John W. Champion, Corsicana drilling contractor, and the Seattle Company is represented locally by C. E. Bass. The well is 1,000 feet deep, and its indications today are that a commercial well will be the result, though perhaps the production will be only a few barrels a day. This is in a part of the shallow field district.

The machinery has not been rigged up on the Tupelo test, which is being managed by J. O. Osborne of Corsicana. A rig is being moved from Kosse to the location. This is to be a deep test, and is located on the Mitchell tract, one mile southwest of Tupelo.

WIDE AREA NORTH TEXAS STRICKEN BY WIND HAIL STORMS

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, May 11.—Wind, hail and rain sweeping northern Texas yesterday left four persons dead, one missing, five seriously injured, many others hurt and property loss which will run into millions of dollars. A tornado swept a strip of southwest Lamar county about ten miles wide and twenty miles long, laid waste crops, uprooted trees and damaged scores of buildings. The four reported dead are negroes of Lamar county.

The storm swept areas more than ten miles wide and seventy five miles long, originating at Denison and traveling across Grayson, Fannin, Lamar, Delta and Red River counties. Along this area farmers were hit hard by the loss of crops, chiefly live stock and damage to buildings with thousands of acres of oats just beginning to head were a total loss and much cotton must be replanted.

Reports of hail storms yesterday came from Fort Worth, Corsicana, Bonham, Stephenville and Denton. All these points said damage had been done to crops and buildings.

When her house collapsed, an aged negro woman who lived near Noble was washed into a creek. Her body had not been found late last night. Her two sons who were also caught in the water, were found later seriously injured. Clarence Kirkham, Roxton, his wife, child and mother-in-law were seriously injured when their house was blown down.

Towns hardest hit by the storm yesterday were Roxton, Noble, Howland and Ben Franklin. In these places hail shattered shingles and other roofing. Two churches at Roxton were blown from their foundation, and part of the school building destroyed.

SWIMMING POOL TO BE OPENED THURSDAY, MAY 20, IS STATED

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE AMUSEMENT PLACE FOR THIS SECTION

Corsicana within the next few days will be in full possession of one of the most modern and commodious swimming pools, bath houses and combined skating rink and dance hall to be found anywhere in the State. The Natatorium, Inc., will open for the season one week from today (Thursday) unless some unforeseen obstacle arises or weather conditions prevent, and those who enjoy swimming will find a great improvement in the pool and its surroundings this season. The men who are backing this amusement place have spent in round numbers the sum of $65,000 in equipping this plant and have converted a spot that was something of a civic eyesore into a place of beauty in doing so.

The pool which is 200x163 feet in size, oval in shape, and eighteen inches deep at the edges and ten feet deep in the center, was opened during the latter part of last summer, but the plant was not complete and accommodations were only temporary. This will be found to have been remedied this season. The pool covers nearly one acre of ground, and a new feature this season will be a part of the shallow water at the west end of the pool fenced off for the little children where they will be absolutely safe, even though their parents remain out of the water. There will be two diving boards from different heights again this year.

There will be a railing or fence erected around the outer edge of the pool and no spectators will be permitted on the concrete walk around the outer edge, but a gravel walk will extend entirely around the pool, with benches also all around the water. The pool holds 1,500,000 gallons of water and it will be kept running in and out all the time from the hot water well, known as the best water for bathing purposes in Texas. The six large sprays will aid in cooling the water and they will be in operation at all times when necessary. Other cooling systems will also be used, one of which is the two large reservoirs that will be kept full with special cooling devices, as the water comes from the deep well at a high temperature.

Great improvements have been made on the grounds surrounding the pool. The entire grounds have been enclosed in what is known as a Texas cyclone fence, being both substantial and attractive. A concrete base 15x30 feet will be enclosed and sand piles placed there on for the children to play in. Shrubbery has been planted around the grounds, the grounds have been filled in and planted in grass, while a large Texas star adorns the space between the bath house and the street. The grounds will be further beautified as the days pass, it was stated.

The greatest improvement is the large bath house and pavilion, 105 by 60 feet. There is on the ground floor a large office lobby, first aid room and individual dressing rooms for men and women, 86 rooms for each, with a large hallway or lobby between the women's and men's dressing rooms where lockers for clothes will be located, each bather being furnished a wire basket in which to place their clothes to be locked up, making them absolutely safe. A checking desk for valuables will also be in the office lobby. The dressing rooms will be arranged in such a manner that the entire lower floor may be washed out at regular intervals, the concrete floor guaranteeing perfect cleanliness. There will be an abundance of showers and toilets in both the women's and men's dressing compartments. Another feature is a disinfecting room for bathing suits where they may be put through a perfect cleaning process. The bath house is well lighted.

Above the bath house is a pavilion that is enclosed on all sides by glass, assuring a cool place in summer. The floor is maple and may be used for either skating or dancing. There will be a refreshment stand at one end with an orchestra stand at the other. A ladies' rest room and men's lounging room will also be built in the southeast and northeast corners, respectively. The pavilion will afford a place for amusement second to none. There will be a bench running around the entire building for spectators. An electric piano will also be installed. Ventilators will be placed in the roof at either end and in the top if necessary. It will be arranged so an iron pipe railing may be placed to divide the spectators from the dancers and skaters. These are only a few of the main features of the building, which will be well and attractively lighted.

Three men who have given not only of their money but of their time, are E. D. McCarver, president; Robert M. Cooksey, secretary, and J. R. Neece, Jr. Both Messrs. McCarver and Cooksey have given much time to looking after the details of the place, while Mr. Neece has visited and inspected numerous other plants of a like nature over the country getting ideas on modern swimming pools and their accessories.

The concessions will be handled by H. B. Walker and Jim B. Robinson, and the smaller pavilion erected last year will be used on the ground floor for the serving of refreshments and the upper part as a bandstand. It was stated that regular lunches of all kinds will be served this year and that a full meal may be enjoyed on the grounds. Another feature is a picnic ground in the northeast corner, where those who so desire may bring their picnic lunches and enjoy them.

The entire plant will be modern in every way and will be supplied with what is sad to be the best bathing water in the State and if there is no hitch the pool will be opened one week from Thursday (today.) One feature not mentioned is the fact that the pool will be drained and cleaned at frequent intervals and that a large pipe from the cooling reservoirs will fill the pool in a short time, in about one hour, in fact, and the pool may be cleaned at night and be ready for bathing next morning.

The directors of the organization are E. D. McCarver, J. R. Neece, Jr., Robt. M. Cooksey, H. B. Walker and J L. Collins.

LIMESTONE COUNTY ASKING STATE AID FOR COUNTY'S ROADS

TWO ROADS ASKED BE MADE STATE HIGHWAYS AND GRAVELED

Special to the Sun.

Groesbeck, Texas, May 13.—Asking designation of the Groesbeck-Mart road and the Coolidge-Hubbard road as State highways and graveling by the State of these roadways, and renewing an application for topping for all State highways in Limestone county not already paved or under construction plans, a committee of county officials went to Austin this week.

The commission to Austin was headed by County Judge Fountain Kirby, and included Auditor J. B. Watson, Commissioner Ed Andrews and Commissioner Dulaney with others.

Appropriation of funds to help the Mexia precinct complete its program of $1,500,000 worth of road work, was also asked by the committee, which called at the State highway Tuesday and was to have a conference with Jim Ferguson, husband of the Governor.

J. G. Gamel, mayor of Coolidge, appeared before county commissioners Monday and obtained an adoption of plans for the Coolidge to Hubbard road, which is to be made a State highway and after grading by the county to be graveled by the State. The county will recommend adoption of the road as a regular Etate highway.

The Groesbeck-Mart road, already graded by local bond funds, will be designated a State highway and graveled by State funds if plans of the Limestone officials are carried out.

The committee will urge the Highway Commission to act immediately on application for topping on the State highway from Prairie Hill to the Mexia precinct line and from the Navasota river on the Mexia-Groesbeck link to Groesbeck, with extension of the topping to the south county line when possible.

Inside the Mexia precinct the highway is to be made a first class concrete or brick pavement with bond money and State and Federal funds.

Only temporary maintenance is being given the roads now, and some sections, particularly that from Mexia to Tehuacana and from Tehuacana to the McLennan county line, are in bad condition. Some sections of the State highway, that south of the Navasota river, are in fairly good condition to fine condition.

KERENS IS VISITED BY HARD RAIN EARLY MONDAY AFTERNOON

Special to the Sun.

Kerens, Texas, May 11.—The hardest rain of the year fell in Kerens Monday afternoon, beginning at 1:10 o'clock. Much of the cotton planted recently will have to be replanted because of the packing rain. Ditches and terraces were too small to carry off the water and were broken in many fields. Light service in the city was cut off on account of the electrical storm. Some hail accompanied the rain, but no damage was done by the hail.
